1. INTRODUCTION

We, from Deep Seed Solutions, or simply "DSS", have as principles the acknowledgement, respect and preservation of privacy of the users of our site and systems. The goal of this document is to establish which user information will be collected in our website <https://www.deepseedsolutions.com> – and their respective services – and the way these data are handled and used.

We warn you that if you do not agree with the content of this PRIVACY POLICY you should not download any of our material nor use any of our services.

By accessing our site, using any of our services, or downloading any material made available by us, you are automatically accepting the terms of this PRIVACY POLICY in full, as well as the use of furnished information, according to terms hereof.

2. DATA COLLECTION

In our sites, information is collected as follows:

Information furnished by you – we collect personal identification information – such as name, phone number, e-mail, company you work for and position – by means of filling of forms for download of our free content or through business card provided by you. Occasionally, request for information may be made by means of direct contact of DSS with users via e-mail or phone call.

We can also collect information about you that is available on the internet, such as from Facebook, LinkedIn and Google.

DSS asks that you do not send, and you do not share any sensitive personal information with us (e.g. Social Security numbers, information related to racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religion or other beliefs, health, criminal background or trade union membership).

The Website is not intended for or targeted at children under 18, and we do not knowingly or intentionally collect information about children under 18. If you believe that we have collected information about a child under 18, please contact us at contact@deepseedsolutions.com, so that we may delete the information.

Cookies – When you access our site, a ‘cookie’ is inserted in your browser by Google Analytics software, in order to identify how many times you return to our address and allow you to use our site with more ease and for us to maintain control of certain statistic data that help us improve our services. Most browsers are initially configured to accept cookies. If you wish, you may instruct your internet browser to keep cookies from being used and delete existent cookies. However, please note that high quality of our site may be reduced as a consequence. Refer to the help guide of your browser in order to obtain more instructions.

Site navigation information – When you visit our site, information such as IP address, geographic location, reference source, browser kind, access duration and accessed pages will be anonymously collected.

Contact history – at DSS, we save information concerning all contacts made with our users, such as downloaded content from our pages and interactions via e-mail.

3. USE OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

By accessing our site, using our services, or downloading material made available, you hereby accept and allow DSS to use your personal information for different goals, as follows:

Your e-mail address: is used for sending material or information requested by you when filling out the form. It may also be used to send newsletters and e-mail marketing, always related to our business, Oil&Gas or technology themes. It will also be used to communicate release of new free material or of new products of DSS and partners, and to help organize sales data about a company's sales pipeline. However, you may, at any time, require cancelation of receipt of such messages via link available within the last lines of all e-mails sent by us. By clicking on this link, you will automatically be removed from the list.

Data of your downloads: can be disclosed for purposes of research and statistics, but no personal information is openly disclosed unless this is explicitly authorized.

Sharing with partners: your personal information will be shared with our partners, only when the partnership is part of the activities described by this policy or our business purposes.

Personal contact: Employees of DSS may occasionally make contact by e-mail or phone in order to carry out polls or present products and services.

Use of our services may require adherence to specific Use and Privacy Policy of said service, and the terms therein presented will apply to you.

4. CONTENT SHARING IN SOCIAL MEDIA

By clicking on content sharing buttons on our pages, you will be disclosing content by means of your profile within selected media. DSS has no access to logins and passwords of users of these media nor shall it disclose content on your behalf without you carrying out this action by yourself.

5. USE OF INFORMATION FURNISHED TO OUR CLIENTS

By means of partner's software, DSS makes tools for the creation of Landing Pages, CRM, sending of e-mail marketing and newsletters, among others that involve management of personal information of users.

6. CANCELLATION OF SUBSCRIPTION AND CHANGE/DELETION OF PERSONAL INFORMATION

You may opt to not receive any kind of e-mail from DSS any longer.

In all e-mails sent by us, there is always a link to cancel available subscription within the last lines. By clicking on this link, you will automatically be removed from the list.

However, if upon requesting cancellation of subscription, you fill out any new form, reinsertion of your e-mail in the list will be characterized, and, if you so wish, you should make another cancellation request.

In order to change personal information or even delete them from our database, it is enough to send an e-mail to contact@deepseedsolutions.com.

7. CHANGE OF PRIVACY POLICY

This Privacy Policy may be altered. Therefore we recommend you access periodically this page in order to be informed about the changes.

We will also keep prior versions of this Privacy Policy in an archive for your review. Before using information for other purposes aside from the ones set forth within this Privacy Policy, we will request your authorization.

8. CONTACT OF DSS IN CASE OF DOUBT

Any doubt concerning our privacy policy can be clarified by contacting us.

Just send an e-mail to contact@deepseedsolutions.com.
